ROTARY CLUB PLANS GREAT FIELD DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Twenty-five Events, Seventy-Five Prizes; Obstacle Race to Be a Big Feature

In connection with its Boys' Week this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Rotary club has arranged with Normal C. Hayhurst, head of the high school physical culture department, and A. T. Blanford, athletic director for the city schools, to stage a field day on Saturday morning, May 13, from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Twenty-five events with seventy-five prizes are announced by the athletic committee headed by V. M. Hollister. He has appointed W. E. Hewitt, Arthur Dibbern and Gil A. Cowan as a committee to purchase the prizes. All boys from the fourth grade up will be eligible except members of the Glendale High "G" club which will be invited to conduct the meet.

Lots of Fun Assured

An obstacle race will be one of the fun events of the morning while high jumps, hurdles, 100-yard and less sprints, etc., will provide the events in six classifications, based on age, weight and class, although the latter has little to do with it.

The Rotary field day is in no way a school event, although it will be held on the Glendale Union High School field. It is an effort to get every youngster in town interested in athletics, interested in taking part in things, hopeful of being a winner —all that according to Mr. Hollister.

Attorney Owen C. Emery and William A. Tanner also attended the meeting Saturday afternoon at which these plans were made.

Burbank Choral Club To Give Concert Here

The members of the Glendale Music club and their guests are again to have the pleasure of hearing a concert given by the Burbank Choral club at the high school tomorrow night. This musical organization, it will be remembered, appeared with great success at the first annual banquet and concert given by the local club last year. Charles Leroy Monro is conductor of the choral club and Myrtle Radcliff Hart is accompanist. In addition to the ensemble numbers there will be baritone solos by Mr. Monroe and piano sólos by Mrs. Zephyr Algots Sparrow.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Glendale Music club will take place Friday night, May 19, in the music room of the high school. The annual banquet of the club will be held Friday night, June 2, followed by a special musical program.

Mrs. Zephyr Algots Sparrow is being highly commended by music critics as possessing remarkable tone qualities, big technical equipment and great interpretative power. She has studied under the Italian teacher, Silvio Scionti, Dr. Ferrata, who is head of the piano department of the University of New Orleans, and also has taken a post-graduate course at the American Conservatory of Music.

The fact that the Burbank Choral club will appear here is the beginning of a movement in the San Fernando valley for the exchange of musical programs. On May 30 it is planned that some of the best artists from the Glendale Music club will give a program at Burbank. On May 25 the Van Nuys Choral club will also appear at Burbank and members of the Glendale club may secure guest tickets for these concerts from Mrs. Mattison B. Jones.

Father Nicholas Bell, vice-president of Loyola college, Los Angeles, last night addressed sixty members of the Sunday school who were present at a special service in the Holy Family Catholic church.

At a special morning service the children of the Sunday school marched into the church and took communion. They were led by Joseph Heuseman, who bore the new cross purchased by the ladies of the altar society.

Those present at yesterday's celebration included Rev. J. C. Kendrick, who married Rev. and Mrs. Norton forty-nine years ago, and wife, of Pasadena; Rev. A. V. Kendrick of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. F. WOMAN FRIGHTENS BURGLAR FROM HER RESIDENCE

Mrs. Homer Roberts Returns and Scares Intruder Away Before Help Arrives

The unexpected return of Mrs. Homer Roberts about 7:15 o'clock Saturday night disturbed a burglar, who was in the act of ransacking their home at 426 West Park avenue, but he escaped while she was seeking assistance.

A lavalliere and .45 Colt are the only articles known positively to have been stolen. However, silk shirts and neckties and many other articles had been laid out for removal.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and members of their family left the house about five minutes after seven. About ten minutes later, Mrs. Roberts returned. She noticed that the front shades had been pulled down, heard a door creak and immediately knew that someone was in the house.

While she went around the corner to get her brother, Harper S. Cobb, who lives at 1118 South San Fernando Road, a neighbor across the street noticed a man leave the premises hurriedly, but supposed that he was a member of the family who had returned to get something.

Mrs. Roberts thinks the householders would do well to take extra precautions to see that their homes are protected during their absence.

Great Interest Shown In Life Conference

Large audiences greeted the speakers at the opening services of the Victorious Life Conference yesterday in the Presbyterian church. Dr. A. Ramsay of Pasadena spoke in the morning and Rev. Robert C. McQuilken of Philadelphia in the evening. At the afternoon service both men gave short addresses.

The services will continue each afternoon and evening this week. The afternoon service will begin at 3 o'clock, followed by another at 4 o'clock. Those who cannot attend the entire service may enter or leave at any time.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock Dr. Ramsay will speak on "The Person and Work of the Holy Spirit," and will correct from the Bible some false teaching abroad at the present day. These services are undenominational and all are invited to attend.

While the necessary transactions for merging the banks have been approved by the Federal Reserve bank and the state superintendent of banks, the delay has been due to negotiations for taking other suburban banks into the Security family all at the same time, it is explained by Mr. Kitterman.

These other institutions are the Eagle Rock bank, the Highland Park bank, the First National bank of South Pasadena, and the South Pasadena Savings bank. Fred E. Biles will remain with the Eagle Rock bank as manager, it is stated, and the building remodelled to include an additional twenty-five feet of ground on Colorado boulevard.

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Am reading the radio page of both The Evening News and the Los Angeles papers, and note that you all advise a one-wire aerial for receiving, and yet I see a great many four-wire aerials. What advantage, if any, has a four-wire aerial over the one-wire type?—A. J. L., Glendale.

Answer: For straight receiving purposes a four-wire aerial has no advantage whatever over the one-wire type, but if for various reasons it was impractical to obtain the necessary length for the one-wire type, that is, you only had a distance of some thirty or forty feet to stretch your aerial, it would be best under those conditions that you make it the four-wire type, but if you have plenty of room you are simply going to needless expense and trouble in erecting a four-wire aerial. This answer only holds true for receiving purposes, a four-wire aerial being much the better for sending.

Question: According to the newspapers and magazines, the craze now seems to be centered upon making the smallest receiving set, and there are many published accounts of sets being made that will fit in watch cases, fountain pens and the like, and will you please inform me if these miniature sets are really practical?—T. M., Tropico.

Answer: There is no question but what these small miniature receiving sets can actually tune in and get a certain amount of the broadcasting that is being sent out from nearby points, but from a strictly mechanical standpoint it stands to reason they would not be as good as a normal size receiver. You have undoubtedly seen very small watches, really not much bigger than a dime; true, they will run, but how many people do you see using them? There are a great many small wireless telephone receivers that are very good, but when they get down to the size of a wrist watch or a fountain pen it ceases to be practical and runs to the novel. Some engraver actually engraved the Lord's Prayer on the head of a pin, and they have it in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington with a powerful magnifying glass over it, but you can understand it wouldn't have much standing in church, and these tiny radio sets are much on the same order.

Question: Would it be possible to use a kite with small copper wire as an aerial in an emergency?—R. W. S., Glendale.

Answer: Yes, but you would have to ground the wire, but I would strongly advise against such an aerial anywhere in the vicinity of high voltage, telephone or telegraph wires for the reason that it would be very dangerous, and while it is true that Franklin flew his kite during a thunder storm under somewhat similar circumstances, it was simply an act of Providence that he was not killed in the attempt.

Question: Why is it that it is practically impossible to receive wireless telephone messages in the tropics?—A. E. L., Glendale.

Answer: It is not impossible, but it is somewhat difficult for the fact that for some reason unknown to us "experts" there is more static disturbances in the ether in the tropical regions than there is in the temperate zone.

Question: I am making my own set, and will you kindly advise me the most up-to-date method to secure the windings on the coil to keep them from slipping?—L. T., Glendale.

Answer: The best method to keep the windings from slipping is to use a little sealing wax where you start and where the winds stop, and if you have your windings fairly tight, and secure both ends in this manner it is much better than using liquid cement or shellac.

RADIO GLIDE LATEST CRAZE

The radio Glide is the latest dance to be inaugurated and was started by Cleo Mayfield and Cecil Lean, shown above, dancing to a tune coming through the ether. All you do is to take two steps forward, then a scuffle, clap your hands in mid-air and then hesitate.

THE RELATION OF WAVE LENGTH TO DISTANCE

Right at the start it is well to point out that wave length, which is only determined by the frequency of the ether waves created at a sending station, has no direct relation to the distance a receiving set will receive. That is to say, if the sending station is working on a "wave length" of 300 meters it does not by any means follow that the range of the station is only 300 meters or that it can only send that distance. The station might be able to send many times that distance or it might only be able to send a small fraction of it. The distance does NOT depend entirely upon the wave length. If that were true it would never have been possible for a number of amateur transmitting stations to send to Scotland in the recent tests.

Wave length does have a little something to do with the distance a transmitter can send, however. And this is principally due to the variation of absorption of energy with wave length. It is found that there is somewhat less absorption of long undamped waves than of short waves when they are forced to travel long distances between a sending and receiving station. The principal reason for long waves being used in long distance work, however, is that they are better adapted for use with very high power. It is more economical to use the longer waves in such cases. But it is the POWER generated and used at the sending station which has the greatest effect in determining the distance. Nearly as important as the power is whether the waves are damped or undamped. Undamped waves are subject to less absorption than damped waves and cover the longer distances much better for the same amount of power.

As a matter of fact, if a given transmitter is operating on a long wave and another of the same power is operating on a short wave, it might be found possible to receive better through static from the latter. This is due to the fact that static disturbances, which are due to natural electrical disturbances in the atmosphere, do not seem to be so severe on the short waves as on the longer.

THE BASKETBALL VARIOMETER

In this new type of variometer a basket weave winding is used which is quite well shown in the illustration. The wire is woven under and over the light strip supports, and forms are very rugged, in spite of their light weight. One good feature is that no sliding contacts are made, and considerable resistance is thereby eliminated. One of the advantages of the construction is the great reduction of energy losses so common in shellac, wood, varnish and large masses of other dielectric materials. It is claimed that the irreducible minimum of distributed capacity is had with the "wavy" wound coils of stator and rotor and the method of connecting those coils together. A very small clearance between a rotor and stator allows a large wave length range, from about 170 to 360 meters, without other inductance in a grid circuit and from about 170 to 650 in a plate circuit. The range is obtained almost entirely by inductance variation rather than by a high proportion of distributed capacity to the inductance.

The variometer may be used for mounting inside a cabinet set. In this case the shaft is allowed to protrude through the panel so that the knob and dial are on the front. Stops are provided which limit the movement of the rotor to exactly 180 degrees. Mounting can be in any position, upright on a table or horizontally in the case of a panel. The supporting screws are invisible under the dial.

Pursuit of Pleasure Is Scored by Pastor

"We cannot worship the golden eagle any more than Israel could worship the golden calf."

Rev. C. A. Cole made this assertion last night at the Central Christian church in his sermon on "Substitutes for God."

"He who places the acquisition of wealth, the pursuit of pleasure, above the things of the kingdom, is substituting another shrine for the altar of Jehovah," he continued. "Such a practice becomes idolatry. America has been worshipping too largely at this shrine.

"It is possible to make a fetish of art, music, literature, our child, and our home. These have their place, but only as a hand-maiden of religion.

"The subtlest and most deadly sin is selfishness. It is behind most all evil.

"On bright Sundays how many go away from the study of God's Word so that they may worship the mountains, the sea and the streams with a fishing pole instead of a prayer book. 'I can commune with God in nature.' Yes, but the chances are many that you'll think nothing about Him.

"Back yonder somewhere in the history of a people, who then knew Jehovah, He commanded them to have no other gods before Him. When Israel substituted other gods, she suffered punishment, dire and disastrous. And ancient Israel never broke the first commandment any more absolutely than has the military rule of Germany by substituting Wodan for Jehovah. God's eternal judgments are sure!"

What's Up in Air Waiting for Catch?

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

Notwithstanding the fact that the "experts" are continually telling us all about the scientific theory of radio, don't you often just naturally have to pause and think, what a really wonderful thing it is after all? I heard somebody singing "Avalon" the other day, it was coming in especially clear, and to think that song was traveling in all directions through the blue sky above, and a little old wire stuck a few feet up in the air over a battery station on Los Feliz Road was catching it and bringing it down, and it sounded almost as good as if Al Jolson was right there singing it himself.

After the song was over, and I had removed the head phones from my ears, the thought happened to strike me—where has that song gone to? What proof have we but what that song is still up there in the ether waiting for some improved tuning coil to bring it down again? No one knows what this so-called ether is composed of: how do we know but what it is the main storehouse of this magical unseen force called electricity? And it may be relaying this same song "Avalon" round and round the heavens, and that it keeps it up indefinitely, and that in time to come, perhaps even in the near future improved apparatus will be capable of listening in again to this self-same "Avalon."

"Experts" tell us that to broadcast the human voice through the ether, we must have electrical current, and it is also a pretty well-established fact, that just about everything on this earth contains more or less electricity, and few will dispute but what this same electricity was present on earth considerable time before Franklin flew his kite, and there is also no good reason to believe but what the original cave men had just about as much electricity in their hair as we have. So, who can say but what this same blue sky above us contains the output of millions of broadcasting stations from the very beginning of time itself, and who knows but what each one of us is an individual human broadcasting station, and that we always have been, and that radio is to be the means of us listening in to the forgoten voices of the ancients?

Supposing this will turn out to be a reality, and that some super-sensitive detector will be invented, and honestly folks, the more we get interested in this thing, the more we are willing to believe almost anything of it, and just supposing we could sit right in our own parlors here in Glendale and listen in on the conversation of the inhabitants of the earth of centuries ago, I guess Al Jolson and a few others of these modern jazz artists would have to take a back seat while we tuned in on some of the old timers.

HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS
By Dr. Otey

"Do you perform surgical operations?"

The Osteopath receives a training in surgery, but he considers it a greater gift to cure a diseased organ than to remove that organ from the body.

However, there are times when surgical operations must be done, but it will be well for you before submitting to an operation to consult the Osteopath. There may be a cure without the knife. Do not cut out an innocent tonsil, appendix or other organ because some lesion is interfering with its circulation or nerve force, resulting in swelling, pain, etc.

If you were commanding an army "Somewhere in France" and the sentry gave the alarm, would you give that sentry chloroform? Would you throw him in the guard house? No! You would marshal your forces to resist the attack! Then why chloroform a nerve or "scrap" an organ when the pain and distress indicate that your body needs intelligent attention and that you should call out the Osteopathic reserves to assist you in repelling the attack and fortifying against future attacks of disease and disease germs?

It is not the purpose of this article to explain how this is done. It is scarcely possible to teach you in this brief space what it takes a regularly equipped College of Osteopathy four years to teach, but that it can be done is being demonstrated by the wonderful cures that are daily produced by Osteopathy.

MARION DAVIES IN 'BRIDE'S PLAY' AT T. D. & L. TODAY

Charming Movie Star Is Shown In Both Medieval and Modern Scenes on Screen

No more exquisite production has been seen here in recent months than "The Bride's Play," Marion Davies' new Paramount-Cosmopolitan creation which was shown at the T. D. & L. theatre yesterday.

Miss Davies plays a dual role in "The Bride's Play." In the medieval Irish scenes she is Enid, a gold-haired girl who is destined to marry against her will, Sir John Mansfield. In the modern scenes she plays Aileen Barrett, a dark-haired, charming, vivacious girl, who finds true love in Sir Fergus Cassidy, after she has been deluded by Bulmer Meade, a rascally poet.

Associated with Miss Davies in this charming picture are Wyndham Standing, who is the hero, and Carlton Miller, who plays the villain.

The many laughs usually found in the comedies flashed on the T. D. & L. screen is today furnished by the king of comedians, Harold Lloyd, in his recreated riot film, "Pipe the Whiskers." It's a scream.

Births

Miss Barbara Jean Westwood arrived in Glendale yesterday, Sunday, May 7, 1922. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Westwood of 250 Lorraine street. Both mother and child are getting along nicely.

Mr. Philp was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge and was president of the Glendale Horseshoe Pitchers' club.

He had been in good health during the past week and Saturday morning visited the horseshoe club grounds on West Broadway. He was taken ill about noon Saturday with acute indigestion and passed away Sunday.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, May 10, at 2 o'clock, at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking company, with interment at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Thief Returns Buggy After Hauling Loot

DALTON, Ga. — "Thankful for small favors," is the feeling of E. W. Babb, Mill Creek Valley farmer, after coming out second-best with a nervy thief.

Although he lost a large amount of provisions, Babb retains his horse and buggy, which the thief returned after using it to cart away its owner's property. Shortly after supper recently Babb heard a buggy pass the house but paid no attention to it, he says, thinking it a neighbor. Later he discovered that it was his own horse and buggy, which a thief had borrowed to convey his meat and sorghum, which had been stolen. After using it for that purpose the thief returned the horse and harness to the barn and left the buggy a short distance down the road.

The southernmost point of the United States is Cape Sable, Fla., while the Florida Keys extend farther south.

SCREEN CLASSIC BY HUGO BALLIN AT GLENDALE TODAY

'The Journey's End' Far Ahead Of Other Pictures Offered By Noted Artist

"Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte, is to be seen at the Glendale Theatre tonight and in its every scene is a picture created by Hugo Ballin who laid aside his palette and brush to take up the fascinating work of injecing real art into motion pictures, a red letter day for the motion picture industry. The genius of Mr. Ballin was plainly demonstrated in his remarkable production, "The Journey's End."

In bringing the great classic, "Jane Eyre," to the screen, he has far surpassed his other films. He has given a remarkable interpretation of this great book and surrounded it with photography and settings that will forever stamp it as one of the great productions. Mabel Ballin and Norman Trevor have the leading roles.

The news, chats and topics which complete the bill always are interesting.

Countess Markievicz, the Irish patriot recently released from prison, was the first woman elected to a Parliament in the British Isles. She, with other Sinn Fein members, refused to take her seat and it was owing to this circumstance that Lady Astor, later elected from England, was the first woman to speak in the British House of Commons.

Fine Apartment House Is Under Construction

George R. Bradbury and M. M. Brown, who recently purchased through the Charles B. Guthrie sompany a half acre plot at the corner of Glendale avenue and Windsor Road, are already well under way with the construction of what is to be a Spanish Mission apartment. The building will be the largest of its type in Glendale and will be ultra modern in every detail including a two-step radiophone in each apartment, it is stated.

There will be a forty-seven-foot lawn in front and an usually large yard space in the rear which Mr. Bradbury intends to make a children's playground with sliding board, see-saw, sandpile, and the like.

In commenting on this feature, Mr. Bradbury stated that he had found that where children are considered a nuisance the fault is largely with the landlord for not providing a place where children can spend their energy in a natural wholesome way.

Mr. Bradbury has been building bungalow courts in Long Beach, but sees a greater future in Glendale, so has transferred his interests here.

He believes that many people now living at the beach intend moving to Glendale. As evidence of this he states that four of his apartments are already leased and three of them are leased to families now living in Long Beach.

INVISIBLE LIFE IS REAL ONE, STATES REV. C. A. COLE

Biggest and Best Things Can Not Be Seen With Natural Eyes, Asserts Pastor

"The great mass of men act as though they believed a large part of the time that the things which are seen are all there is of this world and the life that is seen with these natural eyes is the life indeed."

Rev. C. A. Cole made this statement yesterday morning in his sermon at the Central Christian church.

"We talk of the affairs of this world as if they were eternal," he continued. "We speak about the everlasting hills, the eternal sun. But there is nothing that is seen that is everlasting. All is passed away.

"I am prepared to say that the only life, the real life, the life that is worthy of immortal man, transcends merely the visible and this natural life. The invisible is real. It is so in nature. What is a flower? It is thought materialized. The beautiful bloom was once a thought in God's mind.

"So it is even with the Bible. It is the unseen in the Book that is powerful. The Book must lead to the Divine Being. Back of the leaves and binding and paper and back of it all is the living God who speaks to us in His Word.

Plenty of Light

"A gentleman built a fine house. When the electricians came, they said, 'How many rooms do you want wired and lighted?' The quick reply was, 'Wire and light them all.' So, all the rooms in this wonderful temple of ours should be wired and lighted with God's Word and Spirit.

"Food, raiment, furniture, a nice home and whatever of the good and beautiful money can buy are things not to be despised. Men do not grow holier as they increase in their contempt for all good things. Evil does not reside in matter. It is the wrong use or the right use that decides our destiny. These things are really made to serve men; men are made to serve God.

"God made the soul to have something of this world's good things. The more a man has the better. It is a mistake to suppose that highest manhood flourishes in extreme and abject poverty. Prosperity seeks to bring character to its highest level.

"But let us not forget that the best wealth is not money. Money cannot buy the best things: Faith, forgiveness, peace of conscience—heaven."

Gallery Fans Ruin Drama, Critic Says

CHICAGO.—The trouble with the modern theatre is that the gallery has moved down to the main floor, according to Louis K. Anspacher, playwright and lecturer on dramatic subjects. With the descent of the "gallery god" to the orchestra circle has come a consequent lowering of dramatic standards and a decline in the theatre's repute.

"The great middle class which formerly occupied the main floor of the theatre either has to stay at home now or sit in the gallery," Anspacher said. "A great many people who never had money before and who formerly sat in the gallery now have the means to sit on the main floor at the high prices which are charged to cover the enormous overhead of present-day production, and, consequently, the dramatic productions of the day are based on the likes of the former gallery fans.

"Naturally, then, we have shows which are based on the box-office demands instead of the true principles of dramatic art. And box-office standards today are not very high."

A subsidized theatre where worthwhile productions could be given a thorough trial and time to develop an audience was suggested by Anspacher as the cure for the situation.

RELIGION OF JESUS PROVIDES FUTURE, REV. CRIST SAYS

No Character Ever Challenged World to Such Extent, Is Pastor's Declaration

"Are We Christians?" inquired Dr. C. M. Crist yesterday morning in his sermon at the First Methodist church. His text was taken from Luke: "Why call ye me Lord, and do not the things which I say?"

"No character has ever challenged the world to the extent that Jesus did and the world is generally meeting his challenge. In this day of books there is nothing in literature, prose or poetry that is worth while that does not have Jesus Christ in it. Every book, whether science, art, philosophy or fiction has caught a gleam from His radiance.

"Other systems of religion have made their contribution to the world's advancement, but the religion of Jesus alone adequately provides for all future time. So true is this and so thoroughly recognized that even on the Jewish temples of the world by the irony of fate the date of their erection is indicated by 'A. D.'—the year of our Lord.

Practical Demonstration

"It would seem that the one great task that remains for the church of Christ is to practically demonstrate His teachings. The Sermon on the Mount might be said to be Christ's inaugural address on the constitution and by-laws of the Kingdom. We should face courageously these utterances and try to measure up to their demands.

"In Christ's law of love we find a mighty contrast to the ways of the world. 'Love your enemies,' said He. 'Pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you. Unto him that smiteth thee on one cheek turn to him the other also. Ye have heard it said an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, but I say unto you resist not evil, love your enemies.'

"The second illustration by our Lord is even stronger. 'Him that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also.' The cloak was the outer garment and was worn loosely during the day, but at night it was the covering, and, therefore, according to Jewish law, could not be taken by a creditor. This fact shows how unreasonable and how extreme the violence that would take it. Yet Jesus says, 'If he take thy cloak give him thy coat also.'"

POPULAR PREACHER DOESN'T STIR UP, SPEAKER SAYS

They Get In Accord With Day's Average Sentiment, Asserts Rev. Keith L. Brooks

A violin selection by Vern Isom of Burbank was a special musical feature yesterday morning in the council chamber of the city hall at the Presbyterian Men's Bible class.

"It is human nature to honor dead preachers who are no longer able to stir up unpleasant matters," declared Rev. Keith L. Brooks of Eagle Rock. "The living preachers who expose sin have no picnic. The only way for a preacher to be really popular is to get in accord with the average sentiment of the day and chime in harmoniously with the evolutionists, the reformers, the politicians and all sorts of materialists.

"The twenty-third chapter of Matthew, which we study today, is probably the most unpopular chapter in the New Testament. It is the 'hypocrite chapter.' In it we find the 'woes' pronounced by Christ against the religious leaders of Israel. In the fifth chapter of Matthew we have eight passages which begin with the word 'blessed.' We find a remarkable contrast by studying these side by side with the eight 'woes.'

Those Who Obstruct

"Woe upon vain men who obstruct the way into the kingdom of heaven. Woe is pronounced upon impenitent men who wear the cloak of religious pretense. Woe is pronounced upon boasting proselyters who make their converts for hell. We have woe upon the blind guides who were leading the people contrary to the word. Woe upon sticklers for minor duties but who are devoid of mercy! Woe upon those who insist on clean dishes to avoid religious defilement, yet retain an impure heart. The 'woes' of verse twenty-seven is upon those who feign a peaceful countenance to cover an iniquitous life. The seventh beatitude pronounces those blessed who have the peace of God and diffuse it to others

"The last 'woe' is pronounced upon those who eulogize dead preachers but persecute living ones. The last beatitude pronounces blessing upon those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake."

The Hydrographic Office of the Navy Department frequently receives several "bottle papers" picked up at sea by vessels. These bottle manuscripts contain interesting and valuable data to the marine map workers sent out by the Navy Department. These bottle papers are dropped in all seas to determine the flow of the sea currents. They are printed in nine languages.

For work in delicate dye tests it has been found that women are more valuable than men.

DR. A. J. RAMSEY OF PASADENA SPEAKS AT CONFERENCE

Opens Big Gathering Sunday at Presbyterian Church; Rev. M'Quilkin Talks

The Victorious Life Conference being held this week at the Presbyterian church opened yesterday morning with an address by Dr. A. J. Ramsey of Pasadena on the subject "Consider Christ Jesus."

"Christ exactly represents the being of God," declared Dr. Ramsey, who asserted that his aim in life is to help people to know the Lord. "He made all, lives to maintain all and He is coming again. Consider Him for He and what He is constitutes the whole of Christianity.

"He is God our saviour. That is, God doing a particular thing—putting away men's sin by the sacrifice of Himself for them. In this way He has removed sin as a barrier. The cross proclaims to the universe that He took the sin. There is nothing left in your road but unbelief.

"But He is not done. Living, ascended He is doing a continuous work 'able to save to the uttermost' everyone who will let Him. Fundamental to everything else lies the saviourhood of Jesus Christ. If He is God, then you may take your stand with Him to the farthest limit not only hereafter but now. How you accept Him is what settles everything."

Important Exercise

Both Dr. Ramsey and Rev. Robert C. McQuilkin of Philadelphia addressed the afternoon meeting upon the theme, "Not I but Christ."

In the evening Rev. McQuilkin spoke about the greatest miracle of the world—the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

"We must mind," he said, "that always in the New Testament His resurrection is spoken of in relation with the present day living of men. The supreme miracle of today is that of present righteousness.

"They, who wait on the Lord, shall walk and not faint. Walking is the continual and the most important exercise. Spiritual walking requires every spiritual gift—not as the Christian life is commonly lived but as it may be. It is possible to walk worthily of the Lord, strengthened with all power, all patience, with joy, and that is what requires the resurrection power that is the greatest present day miracle. Be sure that God wants you to walk this way."

Mrs. F. S. Madden Wins Prize Suggesting Name

"Brand Department Store"—that's the prize-winning name for the new establishment at 233-235 North Brand boulevard, which will announce its opening soon. Mrs. F. S. Madden of 441 West Harvard street suggested the name, it is stated.

The owners of the new store are Leo Kanner, Al Rosenfeld, A. and A. Gershen, who come from New York to Glendale with the idea of giving this city a metropolitan establishment.

Surprise Sale Proves to Be Double Suprise

What was advertised as a surprise sale at the Irish Linen store, 117 North Brand boulevard, proved more than that, according to the owners, Messrs. Moore and Lauderdale. Using a half page advertisement in The Glendale Evening News on Friday, the response Saturday was so great that they are continuing the event this week, believing that many others will want to take advantage of the bargains offered.

"STOPS LAXATIVES—HEALTH REGAINED BY INTERNAL BATHS"

Mr. A. Czarnecki, 657 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal., writes Tyrrell's Hygienic Inst. of New York as follows:

"I must admit that the use of the 'J. B. L. Cascade' has cured chronic constipation from which I suffered. Since May 12th, 1913, I have never even tasted any kind of patent medicine or purgative. My health is excellent in every respect."

Over half a million bright, keen, intelligent Americans have found that Internal Bathing is more essential to their health than external baths—

Have found that used occasionally at night they feel like different people the next morning. No more of that bilious, tired, nervous feeling, but having by nature's own cleanser—antiseptic warm water—removed all the poisonous waste from the lower intestine, they awake thoroughly refreshed by normal sleep, with all their functions acting properly, clear headed, happy, confident, eager and capable for the duties of the day.

will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the "J. B. L. Cascade," why it is so certain in its results, and will give you free of cost, an interesting little book containing the results of the experiences of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who was a specialist on Intestinal Complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not cut this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.

Reveals Hiding Place of Gold on Deathbed

GREAT BEND, Kansas—H. J. Brack, a pioneer farmer of western Kansas, often told friends and neighbors he "had a cellar under his house as good as gold!"

Before he died recently he called the members of his family to his bedside and told them to dig in the cellar and they would find gold. A search for the buried treasure after his death revealed over $60,000 in gold pieces buried in the cellar, his accumulation of a lifetime.

GREATEST INJURIES COME FROM LOVE, PASTOR SAYS

Unwitting Hurts Cause Greatest Wounds, Rev. Calderwood Says in Sermon

New members were received into the congregation yesterday morning at the communion service in the Congregational church.

"The worse injuries that we suffer are the injuries of love, the unwitting injuries of the good and the kind," declared Rev. C. M. Calderwood, in his sermon. "Malice and hatred do little for they touch only the outside. These are but blows on the armour. But the injuries of love—ingratitude, indifference, thoughtless words, lack of sympathy, failure to understand—these are the heartbreaking things of life. One may bear the wounds that are inflicted by an outsider but it is difficult to endure the pain that comes from those you trusted. These do not heal with time.

"When we look at the life of Christ we find that the worst injuries were such as these. He expected a welcome from friends, but it was from these He received his cruelest wounds.

Should Have Been Loyal

"The hostility that he encountered was not from the general public but from the representatives of the Jewish religion. There was no mob violence done to Jesus except the violence which came from those who should have been his friends.

"It was the Roman centurion who had more faith than could be found in Israel. It was Greeks who came saying, "We would see Jesus.' A Samaritan woman cried, 'Is not this the Christ?' Those who should have been loyal, put Him to death and mocked His anguish.

"The world has done little to injure Christianity. It has asked to be let alone and it in turn lets Christianity alone. Few campaigns have organized against Christianity. The Roman persecutions were violent but no permanent injury was done for those persecutions deepened it."

MYSTERY OF PHONE CALLS SOLVED BY THIS BOOKLET

You Are Running No Risks in Asking for 'Left' Number; Aid Is Invaluable

Have you ever returned to your office and found a number to "Please Call," on the telephone? Someone has called during your absence and just leaves the message to phone a certain number.

And then you wonder who it can possibly be. Maybe it was someone you don't wish to speak to until tomorrow. Perhaps it was someone you want to talk to right away. The only way to do is to take a chance and call or risk missing something important by not calling.

In the classified directory and numerical phone book being issued by The Glendale Evening News all doubt as to number is removed. Every number in the book, from "Two," up to the highest is included numerically and is followed by the name of the phone lessee. If a number is left you find that number, look at the name after it and you have your party.

Business men and realtors, especially are finding the book an invaluable aid. In addition to the novel phone book there is information about Glendale in the form of a Blue Book. Professional men, shops and offices are classified so that looking up someone to do a certain job is easy.

With its large circulation the book will go into 5000 homes at least in Glendale and will be read by many thousands more.

Thyroid Tablets Cure Baldness, Doctors Say

LONDON—Luxuriant tresses for the bald-headed men and the women with thinning hair—all by merely taking a few extra-strong thyroid tablets persistently.

That is the promise held out by the doctors of the famous Guy's Hospital, London.

It is claimed that one case of absolute baldness has been already cured by this treatment. The patient was a young Dutchwoman who, although only twenty-three, was as bald as a man of eighty. She was ordered to take ten grains of thyroid daily.

Immediately her health improved, and hair at once began to grow on the top of her head, doctors say.

Dr. Barber, specialist, says that the explanation of this wonderful improvement is that the patient was deficient in thyroid.

"That deficiency," he states, "was the cause of the baldness. Thyroid insufficiency manifests itself in young married women in thinning hair, bright, scaly skins and brittleness and loss of nails."

A copy of the key to Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of Washington, in England, has been presented to Mrs. Warren G. Harding by Lady Lee, of Fareham, whose husband is a British delegate to the Arms Conference.

DO YOU WANT LONG LIFE? HOW ABOUT METHUSALEH?

Do We Want to Get Back to Old Times? Question Asked By Rev. Preston

"Is life worth living?" was the inquiry made yesterday morning in the sermon at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

"Methusaleh was 969 years of age when he died," declared Rev. Harley G. Preston. "He had 350,000 days to make life tell for the glory of God and the good of his fellowmen.

"In comparison, how short-lived we are! Why the difference? Was it because they were nearer God and nature and therefore not so well acquainted with sin?

"The secret of early death physicians tell us is bad blood, not only our own, but that of countless generations before us. Here enters the scientific doctrine of heredity. The ancients were not handicapped as we are. It has been said that we of this age are getting weaker and wiser.

"But do we want to get back to Methusaleh? The art of prolonging life is much in evidence just now. From time to time the lost elixir is announced.

"Maybe Plutarch was right: 'Keep your head cool and your feet warm' for in these days there are too many with hot heads and cold feet.

What Was He Doing?

"Now, really, would any of you like to be as old as Methusaleh? Same eyes, same teeth, same taste, same everything! Not many of us would.

"What was Methusaleh doing all this time? Greater opportunity no man ever had. If he had been in the army, he would have had time to have been promoted several times from buck private in the rear rank to major general. And, if Mr. Bryan had his years, he would get to the White House yet.

"Apparently Methusaleh did nothing—just drifted along. But are we doing any better? A short life full of noble deeds is a thousandfold better than a long, idle life. Instead of longing for length of days, it behooves us to make the most of the days that are given to us."

GIANTS TAKE JUST 16 GAMES FROM TWENTY STARTS

But Finish Is Far Away and M'Graw's Men In Need of Better Pitching

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 8.—An early morning glance at the standing of the clubs today and those who profess to have no particular fancy for John McGraw and the New York Giants may experience a sinking sensation in the region of the midriff.

The Giants have won sixteen games in twenty starts to date and are so far like a cake walk. But mark you this it will not be.

A fast start often makes for a club-fooled finish if you happen to have been playing above the collective heads. The Giants may not be open to indictment on this score, but a team of stars sometimes insists on becoming over-confident when the going is easy and the season long.

Further, the Giants are getting along now with indifferent pitching. Our advice is to wait for the double headers when you either have pitching or you have nothing at all.

Cognizance, of course, is taken of the fact that Jess Barnes pitched a hitless game against the Phillies yesterday. Jess, however, has been going none too well in previous starts this season and he would have impressed the average fan just as much had he turned in a good, average victory. A no-hit game is a fine thing for the individual, but to the ball club it means just one victory, no more, no less.

How He Picked Them

At the outset, the writer picked the Cards, Giants, Pirates and Braves to finish in the money, in spite of the fact that the Pirates are playing .500 baseball and the Braves are running a strong last, he sees no reason to alter his views. If any club is to halt the flying Giants, it will be found in St. Louis, Boston or Pittsburg. The latter has the best pitching staff in the league, but thus far has neglected to prove it. The Pirate pitchers have been slow to round to.

The Braves have been much the same, only more so. They brought Oeschger, McQuillan, Watson, Fillingam and Marquard up from semi-tropical St. Petersburg in fine condition. A week or so in and around semi-frigid Boston ruined the staff for the time being and the Braves have been going like a sinking fund ever snce.

As for the Cards, they are stepping along at an even 605 pace and many a National League pennant has been won with less. The Cardinals' hitting will keep them up there all the way.

In other words, water and major league ball clubs will seek their level.

Tagging All Bases

Enter Jess Barnes with the rest of the hall of famers. Jess held the Phillies hitless and runless yesterday and only twenty-seven men faced him in nine innings. The perfection of the game was marred, however, by the fact that Barnes passed Williams in the fifth inning. Long Cy was immediately doubled up with Parkinson on the following play.

A fan dropped dead when Cobb hit a homer with two on in the seventh inning, putting the Tigers in the running against the White Sox. But in the next inning Falk smote another with Hooper on the paths and sewed up the game.

Willie Doak, the salivary king, kept the Reds at bay with the exception of the eighth inning and the Cardinals won without undue trouble.

Sam Jones of the Yankees also had a hitless game in the making up to the eighth inning against the Senators. Then Joe Judge tripled and the stuff was off. In all the Senators got but two hits and were retired in order through the first seven innings.

Kelly of Giants Heads List of Stick Stars

NEW YORK, May 8.—Kelly, the Giants' lanky first baseman, tops all hitters in the major leagues in the records up to today with an average of .448. George Sisler, the Browns' first sacker, who leads the American league sluggers with an average of .444, is Kelly's closest rival.

Durant Dealers Can Meet Any Emergency

Some of the early incidents of the automobile industry are amusing, in view of the present developments in manufacturing and marketing cars. During the pioneering days of his first venture in manufacturing cars, when there were but a few motor vehicles in the entire United States, W. C. Durant sent a man out through the territory to study the market, and make recommendations for the development of a selling organization. The man got nearly to Salt Lake City, and broke a camshaft. There were no garages or repair shops in those days, and the only thing for him to do was to send to the factory for a new part, and wait until it arrived—ten days. More in jest than in earnest, the field man recommended to Mr. Durant that he cover the country with such an extensive organization that no driver ever need be more than twenty-four hours away from any replacement part he might happen to require.

Within a surprisingly few years Durant did just exactly what the investigator had recommended. That was the basis of his success with the General Motors, and the plan upon which Durant Motor companies are operating today. The Durant Motor company of California, headed by his son, R. C. Durant, is the type on which the companies which handle the assembly and sales of the car in the rest of the United States are patterned.

Every Durant dealer is required to carry in stock an adequate supply of all essential parts to meet the needs of his particular territory. If a Durant owner should happen to break any part which is necessary to keep the car running, he can get a new one installed at any Durant agency. The dealer can always get any part that may possibly be required from one of the supply depots maintained by the Durant Motor company in the nearest distributing point.

EAGLE ROCK OFFERS PRIZES FOR BEST DAHLIAS GROWN

May Become Flower of Nearby City; Big Project Under Way for Tujunga

Eagle Rock is capitalizing the dahlia as a flower representative of the city. At the request of the Twentieth Century Club of that city each member of that city's board of trustees are contributing $5 to a fund from which prizes will be awarded for the best dahlias grown this year.

Mrs. Blanche A. Gardiner, member of the Glendale Union high school board from Eagle Rock, says: "If the dahlia is to become the flower of Eagle Rock, now is the time for everyone to prepare the ground and plant the bulbs. They require very little care, and with ordinary cultivation give splendid returns. It certainly would be a splendid sight if one could see dahlias to the right of us and dahlias to the left of us, thereby helping to live up to our slogan, "We LIVE here."

Big Project for Tujunga

A big project for Tujunga has been started by the Wells Construction company in improving Golondrina park, known by many as the Garden of the Moon. East of the large dance platform built for the American Legion benefit last year, a soft drink stand, tea parlor and confectionery is being built. The frame and stucco structure is located among the oaks of the natural park. A swimming pool of generous proportions also is to be built with twenty bathhouses. Undoubtedly this will prove a great attraction for the hill folks on hot days.

Realty Board Luncheon

The dinner to be given by the Tujunga Realty Board to officers of the state organization will be at noon on Wednesday, May 10. A committee from the Business association will cooperate with the realty men in securing a representative attendance, not only of real estate dealers but of business men and women of the valley in general. C. C. C. Tatum, president of the state board, and Glenn D. Willaman, managing director, will be guests at the luncheon.

Improvement Meeting

The West Eagle Rock Improvement association will meet on Friday evening, May 12, at the West End school. An interesting program for the occasion is in preparation, and all residents of the section just east of Glendale's city limits are invited to attend.

Return Engagement

The Eagle Rock Community Players will give "What Happened to Jones," as a return engagement, Tuesday, May 9, at Central school auditorium, at 8 o'clock.

Better Boys, Better Men
Engineers of Publicity
A Look Into the Future
They're Coming So Fast

By Gil A. Cowan

THIS week-end will see the observance of Boys' Week in Glendale by the local Rotary club—an event that is looked forward to with keen interest in the eastern centers.

In New York one year ago more than 60,000 boys marched through the city streets celebrating the opportunity given them to be better men. Indeed, it was a great event.

In Glendale this year there will be but three days set aside for the Boys' Work, the first being Friday when every youngster in school will be invited to participate.

Rotarians will visit each class room to verbally extend that invitation and personally tell the boys that the men of this city take an interest in their future.

Friday afternoon a free show will be staged at the Glendale Theatre with a program of particular interest for boys. Saturday will be a day devoted to an athletic carnival while on Sunday each one of the youngsters will be invited to attend church.

In that way the physical, mental and moral sides of the boy will be given an opportunity for expansion. And better men will make a better country.

Publicity engineer is a new term employed in the modern commercial world for the man who makes the slogans, the pictured story of some investment, etc.

Certainly there is engineering needed to make some people realize they "Needa Pumphandle," but it usually goes over. An offer on safety razors here recently set a record for distribution by one store, it was reported.

Publicity has its place, like everything else. And usually that place is the editorial wastebasket. However, that publicity which is news is in much demand by the best of newspapers.

In that subtle way a favorable impression is created and the results are great.

Were it possible to look into the future some wonderful things would be revealed.

I happened to meet A. N. Flynn, a building contractor from Charlestown, the capital of West Virginia, in Hayward & McCartney's office the other afternoon. He is going to locate in Glendale.

With his vision from six feet and more height, he said that manufacturing will not be wanted in southern California 50 years hence. "There won't be room for it with all of the world coming here to reside.

"You California boosters are all alike," he added. "But that's it. You can't help it. Anybody who isn't a booster here is blind. It is the greatest spot on earth and I am mighty well pleased with Glendale. I have traveled from Maine to Florida, from Charlestown to Los Angeles and this is the first place I have found where there's nothing wrong. It's all right and getting better every day."

Glendale in particular is getting better every day. There is the Congregational church going ahead with its sixty some thousand dollar building permit. And there are store buildings, schools, sanitarium, etc., not to forget thousands of homes, which are going ahead and give employment not only to those artisans who already are here, but hundreds more who are to come and swell the population.

If you noticed the theatre crowds Saturday night you would see that the city can hardly keep up to the demand for entertainment. The same is true with Los Angeles and all of its playhouses. So it is with the churches, the cafes, the newspapers.

Surely, times are getting better every day!

There seems to be some question as to where the term flapper comes from and what it means. According to Sosmo Hamilton, famous author, she is a girl with a 12-cylinder engine and a "jitney" body.

"She was caught in the unrest that followed the return of the boys from France," says Hamilton, "and she is bursting with enthusiasm and vitality she doesn't know what to do with."

Really, we've often wondered what it was the flapper was full of.

Eugene H. Grubb, an agricultural authority of Butte City, Cal., says that the term flapper is of Scotch origin. The appellation was given young girls whose long braids of hair flapped against their backs as they skipped along the streets.

Will Francis J. W. Henry please verify that?

Here are some facts you should know about the Citizens' Military Training Camp for the Ninth Corps area at the Presidio, San Francisco:

That but one thousand young men may attend the camp.

That early application is important in order that the young man applying may not lose the opportunity by the late arrival of his request.

That the young men will be quartered in barracks; that the camp is absolutely free as regards uniforms, laundry, meals, amusements, medical attendance and medicines, and travel expenses.

That there is absolutely no obligation for future military service.

That the age limits are from 17 to 27, except that veterans of the World War are admissible up to 35.

That it is the sincere desire of the War Department that every section of the state have at least one representative at this camp.

That only young men of high moral character and standing in the community are desired.

That the young man's time will not all be taken up in work, but abundant, interesting and wholesome amusements, including athletics, will be provided; that one special feature of last year's camp, which will undoubtedly be repeated in this camp, was a military Hop in the Officers' Club at the Presidio, the music for which was furnished by the 19th Infantry Band of the Regular Army.

That inquiries for applications should be addressed to Citizens' Military Training Camp, Presidio of San Francisco.

MUCH INTEREST IN BIG DISPLAY OF WILD FLOWERS

Prizes to Be Awarded School Making Best Exhibition Public Library

If a count were taken of the number of visitors at the juvenile department of the public library on Saturday afternoon it would have, no doubt, run into hundreds. The special attraction was a wild flower display in which the various schools are competing.

The displays are also being put in place this morning and afternoon, after which the prizes will be awarded to the school having the best exhibit and also the person naming the largest number of flowers on display.

On Saturday afternoon a very complete display had already been put in place by the Colorado, Columbus and Broadway schools, with more coming in. Mrs. Sarah McLean Mullen of Glendale, teacher at a Los Anglees high school, had charge of classifynig the flowers. High school students interested in the study of botany have a splendid opportunity of viewing the wild flowers, all of which have been correctly tagged. Mrs. Mullen has had charge of several similar displays in Los Angeles.

Variety Is There

Among the flowers to be seen in the wild flower exhibit are Baby Blue Eyes, Pink Paint Brush, Innocense Collinsia, Wild Heliotrope, Salsify Nap-a-Noon, Blue Lupin, Wild Hyacinth, Blue Penstemon, Scarlet Bugler, Prickly Phlox, Indian Warrior, Evening Primrose, Tidy Tips or Yellow Daisy, Golden Girls, Yellow Sweet Clover, Golden Yarrow, Common Elder, Mayweed-Dog Fennel, Windmill Pink, Bed Straw, Cudweed or Everlasting Flower, Common Wild Sage, Blue-Eyed Grass, Chia Sage, Climbing Nemophilia, Blue Larkspur, Thistle, Blue Gilia, Wooly Breeches, Forget-Me-Not, Filaree, Milkweed, Desert Primrose, Sun Cups, many varieties of California poppy and mustard flowers.

Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian, states that many interestnig collections of books are being planned for the near future, the members of the library staff already being at work on several lists. One of the displays will be that of bird books and a display of bird houses.

Blind residents of Denver will be assured of safe passage across busy streets by means of blasts on police whistles which will be furnished to them free by the city. Traffic officers will see that all traffic is suspended when a blind person blows his whistle, until the blind pedestrian is safely across.

Peculiar weather conditions prevailing this May in Glendale.

Plenty of fogs, slight mists, lots of low lying clouds that give a healthy person the jimmies.

Outside of that everything is all right and it is a fine time to fish.
